Described as “brilliant” and “lyrical” by the Washington Post, Lina Bahn is a violinist with a keen interest in collaborative and innovative repertoire. She was a member of the award-winning Corigliano Quartet from 1998-2010, appearing in Alice Tully Hall, Carnegie Hall, the Library of Congress, and whose Naxos recording received the New Yorker’s Top Ten Recordings of the Year. Other collaborative work include those as the former Executive Director/violinist of the VERGE Ensemble in Washington, D.C., violinist of the Interference Collective at the Katzen Museum, and founding member of MoVE, a violin quartet dedicated to social change.

In 2009, she performed as guest with the Takacs String Quartet appearing at the Concertgebouw, the Marinsky Theater, Carnegie Hall, and Queen Elizabeth Hall. Solo projects include a Naxos release of her album, Mean Fiddle Summer, and performances at the Phillips Collection, Issue Project Room, Corcoran Gallery, and The Stone. In 2017, Bahn and cellist Matt Haimovitz commissioned/premiered five electro-acoustic works for Ocean Music, an eco-project at the Smithsonian National Gallery of Art.

From 2008-2015, she was on faculty at the University of Colorado-Boulder, and currently teaches at the Thornton School of Music at the University of Southern California.
